SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS STILL AVAILABLE AT TUCSON WALDORF SCHOOL

Arizona Tax Credit Program Success Creates Opportunity

TUCSON, AZ – Sept. 6, 2007 – The Tucson Waldorf School today announced that due to the success of the Arizona Waldorf Scholarship Foundation (AWSF) Arizona Tuition Tax Credit Program, tuition assistance funds continue to be available for qualifying new students applying now. Applications are still being accepted for this school year in many grades.

The Tucson Waldorf School, a private Pre-K to 8th grade school, expects more than 30 percent of families to receive tuition assistance for the 2007-2008 school year. Last year, the AWSF collected just over $100,000 in tax credits from friends and family in the Tucson Waldorf School community to provide assistance to those who could not otherwise afford to attend the school. “Working with AWSF, we want to help make Waldorf education possible for all children,” said Margery Bates, Tucson Waldorf School Administrator.

The Tucson Waldorf School provides a developmentally based, arts-infused, and academically vigorous curriculum designed to graduate students capable of meeting the challenges of tomorrow's world.
